The Asian Center (AC) was established as a unit of the University under Republic Act (RA) 5334 on 15 June 1968. The Center's origins can be traced to the Institute of Asian Studies (IAS), initially a research institution created in 1955 by the Board of Regents through President Ramon Magsaysay's order to UP President Vidal Tan on 27 December 1954. In 1967, IAS became a separate graduate degree-granting unit. RA 5334 was amended in 1973 by Presidential Decree (PD) 342 creating the Philippine Center for Advanced Studies (PCAS), which absorbed the Asian Center. When Executive Order (EO) No. 543 dated 9 July 1979 abolished PCAS, the academic programs, including teaching and basic research, as well as the publications program, remained with the University. On 8 October 1979, the Board of Regents restored the Asian Center. It continues to operate under the provisions of RA 5334.

PROGRAMS OFFERED

GRADUATE PROGRAMS

The Asian Center offers the following graduate degree programs:

- 1) Master of Arts in Asian Studies
- 2) Master of Arts in Philippine Studies
- 3) Master in Asian Studies
- 4) Master in Philippine Studies
- 5) Doctor of Philosophy (Philippine Studies)

ADMISSION POLICIES/REQUIREMENTS

The general rules and regulations of the University governing graduate programs apply to these programs unless otherwise specified below.

ASIAN STUDIES PROGRAM

The interdisciplinary Asian Studies Program (ASP) leading to an MA degree is designed to enable a student to acquire deeper understanding and broader perspectives of many Asian culture areas that can be obtained via the application of a number of disciplines. Broad theoretical and practical issues and topics affecting Asian societies and cultures are examined from a Philippine perspective, while applying various methodologies.

The ASP offers courses in the following fields/culture areas of specialization: Northeast Asia, Southeast Asia, South Asia, and West Asia. Students enrolled in the program are required to choose a core country or sub-region for specialization within the chosen culture area.

The student is required to demonstrate competence in an Asian language such as Bahasa Indonesia/Malaysia, Chinese, Japanese, Korean, Hindi, or in any language required in the program of study, by passing either a language proficiency examination or the courses in the language.

At present the Center offers courses for language facility in Japanese, Chinese, and Bahasa-Indonesia/Malaysia.

PHILIPPINE STUDIES PROGRAM

The Philippine Studies Program (PSP) continues to uphold Philippine Studies (Araling Filipino) as a distinct discipline. Philippine Studies include the study of Filipino society and culture and its constituent ethnolinguistic groups; problematize the distinct identity of Filipinos, produce specialists capable of identifying and studying Filipino or Philippine problems using multi and/or interdisciplinary approaches and methodologies, expose students to different disciplinary perspectives and impart a holistic approach to Philippine problems.

The PSP offers an MA degree (thesis and non-thesis) as well as a PhD program, the latter managed jointly with CSSP and CAL.

SHORT-TERM COURSES

Short-term courses (training programs, symposia, and colloquia) may be organized upon request by at least 10 individuals or by institutions, organizations, and agencies interested in gaining deeper understanding and wider perspective in Asian and/or Philippine Studies which normally cannot be obtained in traditional disciplines and professional schools. Arrangements for organizing short-term courses can be made by contacting the dean.

FACILITIES AND SERVICES

The Asian Center Library has holdings of around 39,776 accessioned volumes and about 423 serial titles on both National and International languages, with a modest collection of more than 2,000 volumes of Asian languages, and around 150 DVDs, CDs and other audio-visual collections.

The Bulwagang Sala'am has a seating capacity of 150 people. It also houses some pieces of the Center's ethnographic collection.

The GT-Toyota Asian Cultural Center was inaugurated in 2009 after being built through the support of the Toyota Motor Philippines Foundation. Operated by the UP Asian Center, the GT-Toyota Asian Cultural Center houses the four galleries and seminar rooms of the GT-Toyota Hall of Wisdom, and the 500-seat capacity GT-Toyota Asian Center Auditorium. Fully airconditioned and equipped with the latest audio-visual equipment, the Asian Cultural Center regularly mounts exhibitions, concerts, seminars, and performances that are open to the public.

Asian Center Museum

In 1973, Dr. F. Landa Jocano headed the Asian Center Museum Laboratory which functioned as a repository of objects and images for the instruction of Philippine Studies students. On 7 January 2009, a Memorandum of Agreement between UP and Toyota Motor Philippines Foundation has provided for, among others, a museum at the new GT-Toyota Asian Cultural Center.

In support of research, instruction, and dissemination, the Center organizes, maintains, and exhibits a collection of Philippine and Asian archaeological and ethnographic materials; as well as historical and other cultural materials in the form of photographs, slides, and audio and video recordings, among others, which are displayed at the GT-Toyota Hall of Wisdom and Sala'am Hall. Exhibitions, conferences, symposia, and cultural presentations are organized in order to commemorate events, and disseminate and advance knowledge on the Philippines and the Asia-Pacific; as well as promote cooperation, understanding, and the uniqueness of various identities among the peoples of the Philippines and the Asia-Pacific region.

Research and Training

The Asian Center conducts research on a wide range of themes and subjects covering different disciplines, undertaken by individual faculty members or collaboratively among them. An example of the latter is the multi-year research program titled "Thematic Assessment of Philippine Foreign Relations."

As an indispensable component of its training and research programs, the Asian Center encourages and undertakes field research in the different parts of the Philippines and other countries of Asia, involving students, faculty, and visiting scholars and researchers. Through academic exchanges, the Center keeps up a network of linkages with institutions and individual scholars concerned with Asian Studies around the world. It also extends affiliation to visiting researchers from foreign academic institutions. An internship program is the latest addition that is open to interested individuals and groups.

The Center likewise actively organizes occasional lectures and short-term training modules.

Conferences

As part of its research and networking activities, the Center organizes national and international conferences on issues related to Philippine Studies and Asia-Pacific Studies.

Publications

The Center has published the Asian Studies journal twice a year, since 1963, as well as occasional monographs, books, and newsletters. For the years 2012-2014, it also hosts the journal, Asian Politics and Policy (Wiley-Blackwell and Policy Studies Organization).
